The place named after God

When God was dividing the world among people, he turned around and he noticed a group of people standing by the side, waiting for their share quietly and not struggling to come to the front. He took pity on them, seeing how patient and modest they were. Therefore he gave them the most beautiful part of his own world. This is now called Bohinj - after God, who is called "boh" by the Bohinj people.

Bohinj is surely a place where you won't run out of ideas how to spend your free time active. Favourable snow conditions make Bohinj the perfect winter paradise. The area offers more than 60 kilometres of cross-country ski trails (half in the valley and half at the Pokljuka plateau), various ski areas and plenty of other options (snow park, children's park and sledging areas etc.).

The natural beauty of high mountains, green forests, and beautiful mountain pastures and meadows, the cultural and historical monuments, and the friendly villages and towns with their hotels, restaurants, inns, and private rooms guarantee visitors a pleasant stay in Bohinj.

Short winter days are not an obstacle to great adventures. You can spice them up with night skiing, night cross-country skiing, ice skating on illuminated ice rinks, night rambles by torchlight or night sledging from Vogar after the sun goes down.

If you are looking for some great adventures, don't miss the opportunity for winter tandem paragliding, fun snow rafting, exciting airboarding, ski touring, skjöring, ice climbing and winter cycling.

Bohinj is an ideal starting point for day trips, for walks on the trails that run throughout the valley, and for mountaineering and climbing tours and offers ideal options and opportunities for rest and relaxation in all seasons. In winter the valley becomes a winter sports center, while during the summer the most beautiful pearl of the valley, Lake Bohinj, invites bathers, and with the Sava Bohinjka River, kayakers and fishermen as well.

Bohinj is one of the most beautiful places, two thirds of the Bohinj Municipality also lies within the area of the Triglav National Park, one of the oldest national parks in Europe. It covers as much as 880 square kilometres or 4% of the territory of Slovenia. Bohinj is a valley that stretches from Soteska to Ukanc.

Vogel (1535 m)

Vogel offers spectacular views and a wide range of activities in summer and in winter, so prepare yourself, your friends and your family for a memorable adventure.

Take the cable car up to Mount Vogel at 1,535 m and enjoy spectacular views of the mountains, that are also available to those who, due to different reasons, are unable to climb the mountains themselves.
